1	Sometimes I feel like 2 lunches per month is too many, that is often times why I don't get to them all. And is the "business" needed at the lunches every time?? Thanks!!	Sep 24, 2009 8:44 PM
2	Thanks. I appreciate the opportunities and the information I get by belonging to BPW.	Sep 24, 2009 8:54 PM
3	i do have to say that originally i was skeptical of bpw, but i have grown to like it, and think it is a wonderful organization to meet others...i would like to get to know other members better and i am sure i will as time goes on. I love that each luncheon is differnet but i am not a fan of ONLY NETWORKING/SOCIALIZING beacuse i like to GET TO KNOW OTHERS...if we are forced to get to know what each member does, passions, so on we will have more of a sense of connectivness. Not like i want to be a sorority member but rather a team member feel...we should all want to do business with a bpw member over someone else because we have that level of trust and relationship with them. I see at the social events it seems like people flock to thier groups or comfort zones	Sep 24, 2009 10:14 PM
